

Thanksgiving at Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco

For something different this year consider spending Thanksgiving at Fisherman's Wharf. The weather in San Francisco is typically sunny and mild on Thanksgiving, making this a great destination. A long-standing San Francisco tradition is to serve fresh Dungeness crab during the Thanksgiving holidays and what better place to indulge in crab then where it is caught? Most restaurants will be open for lunch on Thanksgiving and if you are a traditionalist, many are including a turkey menu.

Restaurant choices abound. Try one of many family-owned restaurants specializing in seafood such as Boudin Bistro both have Thanksgiving Day meal specials. Boudin serves San Francisco's famous sourdough bread, made fresh daily; take a bakery tour if you have the time.
